- Accommodation in St. Catherine's College
- London Heathrow airport transfers (unless on a scholarship)
- Study materials
- Graduation certificate
- Three meals a day
- Guest lectures
- Free WiFi
- Wide selection of afternoon and evening activities
- Coach excursion to London and Blenheim Palace

It's simple. Here are five reasons why the Oxford Spires is the number one choice for your summer:

1. A Unique Programme

The Oxford Spires aims to inspire young minds and help them to achieve their potential. Our programme has a focus on Economics, Business, Law and International Affairs and provides an unparalleled head start to students interested in these fields.

2. A First Step Towards University

Our programme is designed to give students a taste of the renowned teaching style at Oxford through a combination of lectures and two-to-one weekly tutorials. In addition, our students come out better prepared for the transition from high school to university, enabling them to make the most of their university experience.

3. Experienced and Enthusiastic Teachers

All of our teachers are Oxford and/or London School of Economics-educated with extensive knowledge in their area of expertise. Our faculty is selected on the basis of their ability and willingness to understand the specific needs of individual students. Personalised attention ensures that students are able to develop both personally and academically during the course of the programme. At the end of the programme, students will have a close academic relationship with his or her faculty.

4. An Invaluable Network

Students who participate in the programme come from all corners of the world. This creates a very unique and dynamic environment, which fosters not only a special learning experience, but also long-lasting friendships.

5. It's Fun!

Teenagers love to have fun and we endeavour to ensure a balance between academic development and extracurricular activities. The Oxford Spires strives to make this summer an unforgettable one!

Core Courses

Introduction to Economics

The Introduction to Economics course covers basic economic theory and techniques as well as their application to practical examples and policy questions. Students learn to address economic issues faced by countries through applying the analytic framework developed in the course. They also gain the ability to read the economic policy literature and follow current economic debates.

The course starts with 5 lectures on macroeconomics, covering the ways in which the overall economy works, unemployment, inflation, and the rationale and impact of government macroeconomic policies. The second part of the course contains 5 lectures on microeconomics, covering individual decision-making, supply and demand, market power and market failure.

Introduction to Law

The Introduction to Law course is designed to provide an overview of the institutions, personnel and procedures of the English Legal System and the international legal system. Students participate in interactive classes, discussions, debates, group activities and mock trials.

The course begins with a brief analysis of the history of the English Legal System and the different sources of law. Students learn about the way legislation is made and passed as well as the different types of legislation. The course also examines the court system of England and Wales and introduces the range of personnel within the legal system, including the role of judges, the jury, barristers and solicitors. The second part of the course begins with an analysis of how international law is made and how it relates to national systems. Students then evaluate a number of topical issues of global concern.

The Oxford Spires Summer School

The Business Mastermind

This is a very hands-on course where students learn about entrepreneurship and how to develop a business idea from scratch. Theory will be presented as a way to help advance students' business ideas.

During this course, students master the important concepts in economics that every business person must understand. In the first part of the course, students brainstorm a business idea and learn how to write a business plan. In the second part of the course, students learn the main concepts of marketing, accounting, negotiation, pitching a business idea and the art of influence. More importantly, during this time, students execute the business idea. In 2014, the students who participated in this course were featured in the local newspaper for their excellent work in raising money for ROSY, a local charity that helps sick youngsters. purpose. All profits from their venture are donated to the students' preferred Oxford charity.

English and Communication

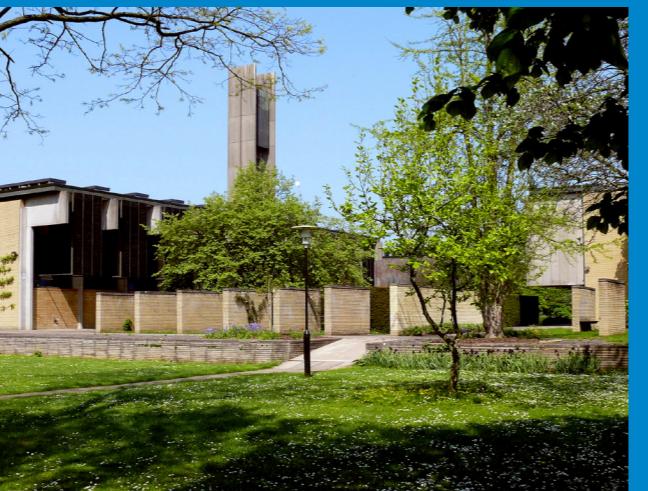

The English and Communication course aims to improve students' language abilities and help them to communicate more fluently and effectively in English.

The course begins with developing students' knowledge in a wide range of grammatical structures and tenses. Students will also be introduced to vocabulary connected to Economics, Business, Law and International Affairs and will be given guidance on academic writing styles. The second part of the course focuses on communication and oral presentation skills where students will be required to give both individual and group presentations on a topic of interest.
